On PC and Apple Mac

Installing BullGuard on PCs with Windows® 10, 8, 7, VISTA

Installing BullGuard on Mac OS X 10.11 or later

1. Close all applications that are open and save unsaved files and documents.
2. Open your Internet browser and go to www.bullguard.com/BPP-MDL-install
3. Click on the download button.
4. Follow the screen prompts to install BullGuard.
5. Register your account and enter the license key found on the flap below.
6. After registration, you will need to restart your computer to complete the BullGuard installation.

Important!

BullGuard detects well-known security software that may be installed on your computer. We suggest that you remove it before you install BullGuard. You can do this through the Control Panel on your computer. If you don't remove the existing software, you may find you have difficulty implementing BullGuard or your computer runs very slowly as a result of software conflicts.

On Android Tablets and Phones

Installing BullGuard on Android 4.0 and higher

1. From your mobile device, open your Internet browser and go to www.bullguard.com/BPP-MDL-install
2. You will automatically be directed to Google Play.
3. Install the application on your device.
4. Once the application has been installed, start the Mobile Security application and follow the instructions.
5. On the registration screen:
 - 5.1 If it is the first device you are installing BullGuard on, use the Sign up tab. Enter a valid email address, a password of your choice and tap Register. After registering, tap on the hamburger menu from the upper-left corner and select Activation code. Enter the license key found on the flap below and tap on Activate.
 - 5.2 If it is not the first device you are installing on and you already have an account, use the Log in tab.

Registration and licensing

About registration

Registering an account is mandatory when installing BullGuard and requires an Internet connection. When registering, you must use a valid email address and choose a password. No other personal information is required.

About the license key

You will find the license key printed on the flap. As soon as the license key has been used, your subscription to BullGuard is tied to the email address you have registered and not to the license key. The license key can only be used once. However, make sure you do not discard it after use as we may need it to verify account ownership.

After installation

Installing BullGuard on additional computers or devices

To install BullGuard Premium Protection on other PCs, Macs or Android devices, click the 'Log in to BullGuard' button in the registration dialogue and log in from your existing account.

Your BullGuard subscription covers up to 10 separate devices in the same household.

Re-installing BullGuard

Should you need to re-install BullGuard on equipment that has previously had BullGuard installed, simply log in with your username and password when prompted.

Warning!

To avoid abuse of your subscription rights, do not share your account details with other people. Abuse of your account is detectable and will result in the cancellation of your BullGuard subscription.
